DAYTON, Ohio, February 3, 1975 --- Charles Whalen, Congressman from the Third Congressional District, Dayton, Ohio, will be the guest speaker at the second luncheon meeting of the Metropolitan New York Chapter's Business Associate Club of the University of Dayton Alumni Association. The luncheon, which will be conducted in the Cornell Club of New York, 155 East 50th Street, is Friday, March 7, at 12 Noon.

Mr. Whalen, who is a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, will talk on "The National Economy," a discussion of the economic problems as they apply to our own economy and the international scene. Mr. Whalen, who has been in Congress for four terms, has just returned from an international economics convention in Africa.

Mr. Whalen serves on three subcommittees: foreign economic policy, Inter-American Affairs, and Africa. A former member of the Ohio State Senate and chairman of the economics department at the University of Dayton, Mr. Whalen has been a part of the U.S. economics scene since receiving his masters degree from Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration in 1946.

He has taken doctoral work in economics at the Ohio State University and has an honorary Doctor of Law degree from Central State University (Ohio) in 1966.

He is the author of two books, "Your Right to Know: Why the Free Flow of News Depends on the Journalist's Right to Protect His Sources," and "How To End the Draft: The Case for the All-Volunteer Army."

The Metropolitan chapter of the U.D. alumni association embraces North Jersey, New York City and Long Island.
